

Board Report June 2020 Submitted by Casey Miller

The school year is officially over, and it is time to start planning for next year. With the future still unclear and guidance not yet available, planning for next year is akin to putting together a puzzle in the dark, but forward we march.

Student news- Remote learning had a bump or two in the early stages but by the end of the year it was a well-oiled machine. ExCEL was able to achieve nearly a 70% participation mark for the entire program for the duration of the closure.

Staff news- Grades are complete and in the books, progress reports and printed and mailed and the staff has sailed off into the potential low-key days of summer. Our summer crew is set to start work on June 1st to get ExCEL back to perfection for the upcoming year. The best part of the summer crew is that ExCEL teachers are the crew. This allows them to put some blood, sweat and tears into the building to increase their pride, knowledge and respect for the physical structure that houses our program.

Building news- Mr. Kegebein has already procured the supplies for the summer crew and has laid out the road map to get ExCEL into working order for next school year. With the list of jobs complete and the summer crew schedule laid out, it is time to get to work.
